Baptist Collegiate Ministries

School is almost here! Pretty soon Football will kick off and the leaves will be changing. Any day now close to 2000 freshmen will begin to move into the dorms and begin to find their way around campus. Pray that God will help them to find a solid ministry to plug into. If you know of a freshman starting college anywhere in Georgia let us know and we will help you plug them into a BCM on their campus.

Our new intern will start in the office on August 6. Her name is Jenny Green and she is coming to us from Louisiana. Stop in to meet her.

We are also finished with some of the renovations we started during SPLASH. Please stop by to check out the progress we were able to make because of SPLASH this summer! I hope you had a blessed summer!

God Bless! Bill

T.H.R.I.V.E

For those involved in T.H.R.I.V.E., we will resume our meetings on Thursday, August 16th at the Associational Office. Bring your own lunch. 11:00 a.m.-12:30 p.m.

From the WMU...

The month of August reminds me of January in some ways. I'm sure you're wondering what the comparison might be. As I shared in the last newsletter, I work as a media specialist in an elementary school. While we sometimes think of January as a new starting point to try new things and make changes (for the better), August serves as a new beginning for a new school year, a fresh start. After being away for several weeks of summer we can go in with a renewed vision and energized to teach a wonderful new group of children.

In many churches, we also start getting ready for our new church year in August. If we teach Sunday School we have new children joining our class. You may be taking on a new position. You may be planning to start a new class. I pray that you will have a great start for your new church year.

If one of your new classes is a missions education with your children or youth, or if you're starting a new adult group or revitalizing a group, our team is available to help you with training. We could share ideas and encourage you as you promote missions education and involvement.

Upcoming Opportunities
